

Relationship360

Reinvent your Leadership

Self-doubt is sabotaging your leadership.

Break the paradox and lead with confidence.

Your best employee quits

Conflicts in the workplace

Poor team performance

Disaster looming

Despite your skills and experience, you're not fully equipped for the increasingly-challenging demands. A persistent fear grows as your vision for success is undermined by forces beyond your control or obscured from view.

At a crossroads, you know that the levers to manage change are rooted in your relationships—with colleagues, partners, and stakeholders. Yet the higher up you go and the bigger the issues you face, the harder it is to get the personal insights you need to achieve peak performance.

You need a system for adapting your behaviors in your day-to-day interactions to strengthen relationships, deepen insights, and gain positive influence with your colleagues...so together, you can move a mountain.

The R360 dramatically improved my clarity and confidence as a leader. It's helping us grow our business better and faster.

Relationship360

Relationship360 is designed for new age leaders and it's the most effective solution for improving and accelerating relationship development.

It is a practitioner-facilitated process centered around the use of BehaviorTuner, our signature assessment tool, and has been used by thousands of leaders around the world for over 30 years.

BehaviorTuner is a non-anonymous, 1:1 assessment tool that helps the coachee identify the most important behavioral levers for developing and sustaining high-trust, high-growth relationships.

I know from experience that Temenos' BehavioralOS works very well for developing individual leaders, and for changing organisational culture.

360 quickly transforms your self-awareness, your relationships, and your performance at work.

This coach-assisted journey leverages a unique method to help you (1) identify the exact behaviors that will build trust and relationships quickly, (2) implement them, and (3) strengthen results.

Over and over again, we see leaders attain a new level of self-awareness that empowers them to foster a culture of trust and regular open dialogue. This leads to faster change, higher engagement, and overall better performance. Here are just some of the outcomes after leaders completed R360:

Accelerated trust building

Fostering higher engagement and better performance

Strengthened credibility with colleagues

Faster and better quality feedback loops

Clarity on the specific behaviors that will get the qualified results

I have been able to successfully employ Temenos' methods in my daily interactions, which in turn has resulted in organizational success for the Agency.
